

PROWLERS THAT BODE LITTLE GOOD

GANG OF THREE VISIT THE RESIDENCE OF S. H. GILLETTE.

That there are a number of midnight prowlers in this camp, bent on robbery or worse, is becoming more evident each day. A gang of three, who evidently had no business in the neighborhood, paid a nocturnal visit to the residence of S. H. Gillette, on Wednesday morning, and were surprised by two gentlemen occupying the front room of the residence. Percy Meaney and Mr. Dodd were the gentlemen in the front room, and they were aroused from their slumbers by a noise on the front porch. Mr. Meaney was out of bed in a minute, Big Betsey in hand. He opened the door in time to see a man disappear around the side of the house, and going to the window, saw two men, and these immediately joined by a third, who had been somewhere in the rear of the house. Meaney ran out of the door to the porch, and then the trio broke into a run. He forbade shooting, being non-plussed for the moment, and the freebooters made good their escape. This is the fifth time that men have been found in the neighborhood, but this is the first time that anyone has been discovered in such close proximity to the house.

BROKER REPORTS MONEY EASIER

HARRY EPSTINE RETURNS FROM SAN FRANCISCO WITH FINE REPORTS.

Harry Epstine, the broker, returned from the coast yesterday, after an absence of two weeks, most of which time was spent in San Francisco. He stopped over at Carson for a day, and came from there on to Tonopah.

"San Francisco is looking very much better," said Mr. Epstine, "and the best thing that can be said for the city is the fact that the banks are loosening up, and that money is more plentiful than it has been at any time since the financial depression. While the banks have not gone back to a strictly cash basis, they are very near that point, and anybody who has money on deposit, has no trouble in getting it in cash. More attention is being paid to the stock market, and there is more money, apparently, being put into the Nevada stocks."

"The amount of building that is going on in the city is an object lesson to the visitor, for that shows above everything else how the confidence has been re-established in the city. There are any amount of men at work on the structures, and sky scrapers are becoming so common in San Francisco, that after you are there for a day or two, you cease to think of them. From all I could learn, business in all quarters is improving, and the shopkeepers are reaping a harvest. Everything is on the mend, and it is improving to stay improved. In ninety days we will not know that there ever was a panic in the country."

BLAIR PROPERTY BREAKS INTO ORE

NEVADA RICO DISCOVERS GOOD VALUES IN GOLD AND SILVER.

The Nevada Rico Mining Company received the information on Monday that a large body of ore had been discovered on its ground at Blair. Samples of the new find were assayed here yesterday and gave the following results: Two feet of ore averages $71.50 in gold and silver per ton; the rest of the vein, which is 40 feet wide, averages $3.20 in gold per ton; average sample of the whole vein, $6.75 per ton. The full width of the ore shoot has not been determined, as the porphyry dike which forms the walls averages $2.80 in gold per ton, so far as dug into.

Miss L. L. Gilman, president and largest stockholder of this company, is highly elated over the results obtained and stated that the ore shoot recently discovered was found while doing the annual work for last year. This work consisted of prospecting the ledges by means of surface trenches. Sinking on the vein was started on Wednesday. The Silver Peak district is noted for the immense bodies of low grade milling gold ore which is now so successfully treated in the Valcaldia and the Pittsburg Silver Peak mills. The Nevada Rico, with its large vein of free milling gold ore averaging over six dollars a ton at a depth of from five to ten feet, and the unexpected find of high grade ore, bids fair to rival the older mines in the camp, located on the same veins and which had similar ore at the same depth.

JEFFRIES HOME WAS THREATENED

HEAT FROM STOVEPIPE SETS FIRE TO THE PAPER ON THE WALL.

The heat from a stovepipe set fire to the paper on the wall in the living room of the Jeffries home on Prospect street, yesterday morning, while Mrs. J. G. Jeffries was sitting close by. Before she was aware of it the paper had ignited and the room was full of smoke. Neighbors rushed into the house and someone turned in the alarm of fire. The department was quick enough to respond, but the going over the ice and through the snow was bad, and rounding a corner one of the horses slipped and went to the ground, but fortunately escaped serious hurt.

SOLID GROUND IS REACHED IN ALPHA

News today from the Alpha shaft, where three miners have been entombed for the past month, is the most encouraging to the entombed men that has been received since the big cave-in.

The rescue party, which has been working with untiring zeal night and day ever since the unfortunate occurrence, today received a partial reward by encounter in the shaft the first set of timbers that had been left standing by the run of debris.

When these timbers were found this morning, there was much rejoicing, as from now on the work of removing the debris will be accomplished with a great deal more speed, since the necessity of re-timbering every foot, as heretofore, is eliminated. But ten feet remains between the rescue party and the 600-foot level. When this is reached they will have gotten beyond the treacherous ground and reached a portion of the shaft that goes through solid rock, and there being no possibility of any danger from another cave-in, rapid progress will be made.

The entombed men are still in the best of spirits, notwithstanding their long confinement on the 1000-foot level, and daily express their appreciation over the telephone of the efforts being made to aid them in escaping.

Every day they are treated to the sounds of music, which is sent down to them by connecting the telephone to the phonograph.—Ely Expositor.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF SISTER

MRS. IRVING MACDONALD AT HOME TO HER MANY FRIENDS.

Mrs. Irving Macdonald received her friends at her easy home on Wednesday afternoon, in compliment to her sister, Mrs. George R. Andrews of Fresno, Cal. The afternoon was spent pleasantly in conversation and music. Much merriment was occasioned by the striking resemblance of the two sisters, each often being mistaken for the other. The hostess was ably assisted in receiving her guests by her sister, Mrs. Helen M. Leedour, Mrs. Arthur G. Raycraft and Mrs. Lou Blumenthal. Mrs. Edwin J. Collins and Mrs. MacFarlane presiding at the punch bowl. Miss Elizabeth Stansbury and Miss Alice Deebie, daintily gowned, served in the refreshment room, which was artistically decorated in pink carnations and ferns. The many lighted candles and the beautiful gowns of the ladies, combined with the color scheme of the hall and reception room, which was red, gave a most charming effect. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Macdonald's hospitality were:

Mrs. G. R. Andrews, E. J. Collins, L. L. Blumenthal, Arthur G. Raycraft, Helen M. Leedour, Floy MacFarlane, G. L. Blakesley, L. A. Gates, A. R. Parsons, G. A. Bartlett, Gayden, J. W. Stewart, H. H. DARING ATTEMPT DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

THUG DRAWS GUN ON WOMAN IN THE STORE OF R. E. KUHN.

(Special to the Bonanza.)

MILLERS, Jan. 16.—A daring attempt at a holdup was frustrated this morning by the timely arrival of two men on the scene, just as the holdup man was about to draw a gun on a woman. The latter had gone into the store of R. E. Kuhns to make some purchases and had hardly taken her purse from her pocket, when a short, thickset man entered the store and addressing her, said:

"I am after money, and I want it—quick."

The woman was rendered speechless by the suddenness of the attack, and before she could comply with the request, two men entered the store. The holdup man had his hand on his gun at the time, but he did not wait to draw it. He made a jump through the door and was away before he could be apprehended. A watch has been on a suspect here all day, and he will be watched until he leaves town. The woman could not be positive as to the man, but vaguely described him as a short, thickset man, wearing a long, dark overcoat and a light hat. This answers in a general way to the description of the suspect.

TURNING OUT THE BEST WORK

The bindery of the Bonanza is turning out the best work in the city, and it is giving such great satisfaction that anyone who has his work done there once, never goes anywhere else. The plant is the finest and most complete, not only in the State, but this side of San Francisco. We can turn out all kinds of work that is demanded in the offices of lawyers, brokers, promoters, mining companies, or for any other kind of business, and we guarantee satisfaction in every respect. One trial will be sufficient to establish the truth of this statement. It pays to go where only the best kind of work is done, and it pays to patronize home industry.
